

Greensboro, NC Onboard as REvive Goes ‘Coast2Coast!’

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE— Greensboro Regional REALTOR® Association in North Carolina (GRRRA) has signed on to host the Real Estate REvive Conference live stream on March 21, 2019, officially taking the conference “Coast2Coast.”

The nationally-recognized conference for real estate professionals, which has sold out the last several years, is reaching out to a national audience for the first time, live streaming to “host locations” from the state-of-the-art Victoria Gardens Cultural Center in Rancho Cucamonga, Calif. After a live stream test to Chicago last year, GRRRA will join with other associations, including more than a dozen in California, to share the latest technology and vital information for a fraction of what it typically costs for the opportunity to hear these top speakers.

“We are proud to share this vital content with associations and real estate professionals across the country,” said Mark Epstein, CEO of Citrus Valley Assn. of REALTORS®, the lone association that started the event seven years ago. “All the locations and every attendee will be connected through the REvive app. I can’t think of any other conference where you can get a full day of amazing content for only $19.”

The National Association of REALTORS® (NAR), the largest trade organization in the world, is also onboard for REvive 2019, complementing a lineup that includes a diverse group of top industry professionals:

- Leigh Brown, a nationally-known speaker, founder of National Ethics Day, and a top broker from North Carolina, will return as host.
- An NAR senior economist will present the housing market economic forecast.
- Nobu Hata, NAR Director of Member Engagement, will discuss technology in real estate and how it’s changing the way real estate is bought and sold.
- A nationally-known keynote speaker (announcing soon) will discuss the state of the real estate industry in the volatile climate ... and more!

In addition to Greensboro Regional REALTORS®, participating associations include Beverly Hills/Greater Los Angeles, Citrus Valley, Pasadena and many more.

Tickets for the hub location in Rancho Cucamonga are only $19 for the entire day. Contact your local association for information on tickets for host locations. For more information see <https://realestaterevive.com>.
